

Event Report

Organizing society: KIRT

Name of the event: Mudra'18

Date:

KIRT is the only society of our college and one of the few colleges of Delhi University that conducts an online fest. Mudra'18 widens society's reach and involves as many students as possible. The fest included four events.

The Lal Street was an online mock stock. Modeled on stock exchanges, the game will take you through the main moves of share transactions, capturing the excitement of real-time trading on the stock market.

The Great Collaborator was a platform where companies meet, collaborate, and bring down a unique product or service that does not currently exist in the real world market.

The Social Artist was the representation of solutions to social causes (like gender inequality, privacy violation) digitally or graphically.

Fan Theory: Marvel Universe was a financial skill development event wherein the participants had to bring and manage funds for the team.

