The farmer's high quality corn was praised all around in the state. The success story of his exceptional corn reached the ears of a journalist and he wanted to interview the farmer. While he was learning about the agriculture process of the farmer, he discovered that the farmer shared his best quality seeds with his neighbours.

"How can you afford to share your best corn seeds with your neighbours when some of them compete with you in the agriculture fair?", asked the curious reporter.

"Why wouldn't I Sir?", asked the farmer. "Didn't you know that the wind picks up pollen from the ripening corn and swirls it from field to field. If my neighbours grow inferior quality corn, cross pollination would eventually degrade the quality of my corn too. If I am to grow high quality corn, I must help my neighbours grow good corn too."
