Main Ideas:

EMBARKATION 3.0, The Placement Fair organized by SGND Khalsa College, emerged as a resounding triumph, marked by a myriad of notable achievements and significant participation. A striking feature of the event was the diverse and illustrious cohort of students in attendance, hailing from esteemed institutions such as SRCC, Hansraj College, LSR, Sri Venkateswara College, St. Stephen's College etc. , alongside representatives from various universities and colleges across the region. Complementing this robust student presence was the impressive turnout of HR professionals from over 20 prestigious companies, including industry giants such as Mama Earth, Ditto Insurance, Decathlon, Bajaj Capital, VQMS, and Celekt, among others. We hold the honor of hosting Mama Earth for the first time in Delhi University. Their active engagement and enthusiastic interaction with students underscored the fair's relevance and appeal to the corporate sector.

Different companies followed different criteria for shortlisting students and these were accommodated by our Crecido team. Aptara, a globally renowned company, showcased a presentation that helped students understand the dynamics of the company. Following that, they conducted a test for their selection criteria. Get ePay, a complete merchant solution that provides a platform for small businesses online, conducted their interviews through virtual mode. Group discussions were conducted by Decathlon.

The event's success was further accentuated by an exceptional footfall exceeding 700 eager participants, indicative of the palpable interest and enthusiasm among students towards exploring career prospects and networking opportunities. Additionally, as a gesture of gratitude and recognition for their invaluable contribution, HR representatives were presented with thoughtfully curated gift hampers, symbolizing the organizers' appreciation for their pivotal role in enhancing the fair's efficacy and impact.

Overall, the college placement fair exemplified a harmonious convergence of academic excellence, corporate engagement, and student aspirations, setting a high standard for future endeavors.
