

Project Inara:

As we waved a relieving goodbye to 2019, on its onset 2020 laughed and created a mockery of human's and our living style. 2020 pandemic made the least important factor in one's life the most important factor for one's survival. The need for hygiene and sanitation post pandemic is what every passing second taught and continues to teach us.

Project Inara after keeping in mind the interest of various financially weak members of society, realised the need of producing affordable and effective soap bars. This pandemic gave strong instances and is evident of the mere fact, that no soap is more advanced or less protective compared to normal soaps available in the market. In addition, project Inara aims at strengthening the financial independence among less educated female, whose household finds it difficult to manage two meals a day. And are willing to overcome the bog of poverty.
