

TEAM BUILDING SESSION

“Coming together is a beginning, keeping together is progress, working together is success”

- J. Maxwell

Team SOFICA and Udyamita engaged today in a Team Building Session wherein they put various management lessons into practice by playing various games. This session’s main aim was to connect the existing members of both the societies with the newly recruited members. A couple of fun games took place in this session in which everyone took keen interest and participated passionately with the help of the convenors. Cash prizes were there at the end of each game.

First a game similar to dumb charades was played at individual level where each member had to guess the name of the member of the society enacted. This game turned out to be very engaging and fun where everyone enacted and even guessed the names of their fellow team members.

Next was a team game in which a group of five members each was made by members themselves. The task was to enact in the topic “When UDYAMITA meets Sofica” for 2 minutes for which a preparation time of 5 minutes was given to each team. This game again turned out to be engaging and interactive where both the team members mix-matched and represented fun enactments.

In all it was an entertaining and rejuvenating event. The session proved helpful in bonding and connecting the current society members with the freshmen .

The disparities narrowed, trust evolved and sense of belongingness prospered.
