| ActivitiesThe Consulting 101 event was a case-based activity organized to introduce students to the field of consulting and enhance their analytical thinking, problem-solving, and communication skills. The event comprised two rounds. Round 1 featured a Google Forms quiz covering the basics of consulting and business-related questions. Round 2 required participants to prepare and deliver a short pitch based on a given case study. This round aimed to assess their analytical abilities, logical reasoning, and presentation skills. At the end of the event, the winners were announced, and cash prizes were awarded to recognize their skills. |                                                                                      |
| Main IdeasThe event aimed to familiarize students with the society, its functioning, the projects and research undertaken by the team and its achievements so far. It also aimed to inform students about the recruitment process to become a part of the team. The activity focused on developing analytical thinking, problem-solving, and decision-making skills through a consulting-based challenge. It aimed to familiarize participants with real-world business scenarios and encourage them to approach problems with practical, innovative, and structured solutions.                                                                                         |                                                                                      |
