Main Ideas

The project exemplifies Sri Guru Nanak Dev Khalsa College's deep-rooted commitment to Holistic institutional wellness, bridging the gap between academic environments and proactive healthcare accessibility for students, teachers, and support staff alike.

By embedding the S.E.V.A. core team badge-ceremony into a large-scale public health drive, the college successfully fosters student leadership, administrative accountability, and a lasting ethos of civic responsibility among its undergraduates.

The high level of participation-marked by the active involvement of college leadership, faculty, administrative staff, and over 200 attendees-underscores a unified institutional dedication to community service and social welfare.

The smooth execution of the camp highlights the fruitful synergistic collaboration between academic institutions and premier medical organizations like Venkateshwar Hospital, ensuring that comprehensive diagnostic tests and expert medical guidance reach the campus community effectively.
